

Scientific work

During 2005-2020, 30 articles and theses prepared by the Department's staff were published in international and national publications. During this time, teachers of the Department have created prepared and published 8 textbooks, more than 80 educational and methodical works, more than 100 scientific articles and theses. Based on scientific developments, the Department has received 17 patents for utility models and inventions.